MRS. REYNOLDS' SON IS PLACED IN INCUBATOR

Was Born To Widow Of Slain Man Early Last Evening

Philadelphia, Jan. 11 —(AP)— Libby Holman Reynolds' new baby boy, Dr. Norris W. Vaux said today, weighed three and one-half pounds at birth and is being kept in an incubator.

Both mother and child, said Dr. Vaux, the obstetrician who attended Mrs. Reynolds, are doing "very well."

The child, heir to a large share of his father's tobacco fortune, was born at 6:48 o'clock last night in the Pennsylvania hospital and came as a surprise to outsiders. previous announcements from the actress' home had said the baby was expected early in Bebruary.

Hospital authorities who announced the baby's birth said both mother and child were doing "satisfactorily."

Death Recalled

Arrival of the much-discussed infant recalled the death of his father, Smith Reynolds, 20-year-old heir to one-fourth of the R. J. Reynolds tobacco fortune. He was found fatally shot at Reynolda, his family's palatial home at Winston Salem, N. C., last July 6, after a day party.

A Coroner's jury found that he came to his death at the hands of "a person or persons unknown" and his 26-year-old widow and Albert Walker, 19-year-old Winston Salem resident, were indicted early in August on charges of murder.

Last November, however, the prosecution was dropped when Solicitor Carlisle Higgins announced there was insufficient evidence to warrant a trial.

Mrs. Reynolds, daughter of a Cincinnati attorney, entered the hospital early yesterday after an automobile trip from the home of Albert E. Ives, an architect, near Wilmington, Del., which she rented for the season. Upon her arrival, it was announced she had come merely for observation.

Plans Uncertain

Speculation was rife today as to the former Broadway favorite's future plans. She was reported to have conferred with New York producers after she was freed of the murder charge and her attorney in Winston-Salem said at that time she expected to return to the stage after her baby was born.

As soon as it became known that Smith Reynolds was to have an heir, there was much discussion as to the disposition of the father's share in the Reynolds fortune, estimated at between $15,-900,000 and $20,000,000.

Attorneys expressed doubt as to whether Libby Holman Reynolds would have inherited it, but under the terms of the will of R. J. Reynolds, Sr., and North Carolina law, it is said, there is no question of the new baby's rights.

Smith Reynolds married Libby Holman in November, 1931, six days after his divorce from his first wife, Anne Cannon Reynolds. To a daughter born of that marriage and to the first Mrs. Reynolds, he made bequests of $50,000 each in addition to settlements of $1,000,000 apiece.

The first Mrs. Reynolds waived all claim to any further share in the fortune for both herself and her child at the time the divorce settlement was made, but the question has been raised whether she had the legal power to relinquish the inheritance rights of her child.

Legion Fighting Reduced Benefits

Washington, Jan. 11 —(AP)— A spokesman for the American Legion put before a joint Veterans committee today the contention that "representatives of the wealthy interests" were seeking to "transfer a large portion of the veterans' cost from the wealthy income tax payers of this country to the backs of the distressed and needy local property taxpayers."

Appearing to contest the demands by the Economy League, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and various other organizations for reductions in veterans expenditures, John T. Taylor, legislative representative for the Legion, argued that such action would increase city, county and state expenses.

He promised to produce witnesses to support his arguments, and more than a score of spokesmen for other veterans' organizations waited for him to finish in order to begin their own statements in opposition to cuts. The recommendations have totalled $450,000,000 annually.

HOLD SON FOR INVESTIGATION IN SIRE'S DEATH

Several Discrepancies In Story Lead To His Detention

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—Police were holding Milton Fingold, 22, for questioning today following the slaying of his father, Joseph 49, in the living quarters above the shop the family operated in the Medinah Athletic Club building.

The body was found last night by young Fingold after he returned from a short visit to a nearby drug store. While police said they had considered robbery and suicide theories in the death, they said they had held the son after several discrepancies had been found in his statements.

The elder Fingold left two insurance policies, one for $25,000 and another for $13,000, police said. One of the policies was believed to carry a double indemnity clause in case of violent death, they said.

Discrepancies in the son's story were mostly concerned with the time element involved in his absence, officers said, and his actions during an unaccounted for period. The father and the son had been alone in the apartment prior to his departure, the youth admitted.

WILD DISORDERS REPORTED TODAY IN SIX NATIONS

Military Measures are Invoked In Four As Rioting Spreads

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Military measures were invoked today in four out of six countries disturbed this week by rioting or open revolt In one of the others —the Irish Free State—military action was threatened to quell political fighting.

Revolts continued today in Spain and Alwar, India, and disturbances which took a heavy toll in casualties also occurred yesterday in Germany, Argentina and Cuba. The situation in Argentina continued doubtful.

The Spanish republican government ordered martial law for provinces where further outbreaks were attempted. Since Sunday, 40 have been killed and more than 100 injured in the revolt of Spanish Syndicalists and Communists.

One thousand British soldiers arrived in Alwar, native state of northern India, where Moslems were in revolt. The rebels were holding a district against native state troops.

State Of Siege

President Augustin Justo adjourned the Argentine Congress for the duration of internal disorders. The government retained extraordinary powers under a state of siege decree, similar to martial law except that civil courts function. Reports relayed through Santiago, Chile, listed eight persons killed in clashes yesterday and Sunday in Argentina.

Seven persons were wounded in five cities in Cuba yesterday before military forces took over control. Outbreaks occurred at Havana, Santiago, Santa Clara and Mantanzas on the occasions of celebrations of the so-called "martyrdom" of Julio Antonio Mella, student Communist. It was the third anniversary of his slaying.

Clash In Germany

In Germany, another clash occurred between National Socialists and Communists in Berlin yesterday. Many were injured and police were met with a volley of gunfire before the fight was broken up. The anniversary of what the Nationalists call the "shameful" Versailles treaty was observed, in German cities and by German populations in Danzig, Poland and other places.

In the Irish Free State, where more than 30 persons were injured in political fights Sunday, General Owen O'Duffy, chief of the civil guards, said he would call out the army if other efforts to maintain peace failed.

Amboy Woman Was Found Dead Today

(Telegraph Special Service)

Amboy, Jan. 11—Mrs. Lorraine Beardsley, aged about 50 years, a sister of the late Wayne Smith, former Amboy police officer who was killed in an automobile accident south of Dixon several weeks ago, was found dead in bed in her home in the north part of town late yesterday afternoon. The woman lived alone and was reported not to have been seen about her home since Sunday.

Relatives and neighbors, alarmed when it was reported that she had not been seen and the curtains of the house were drawn, entered the house last evening, finding the lifeless body on the bed. She apparently had been dead for some time and it was presumed that her death resulted from a heart attack. The body was removed to the Vaughan moratuary where Coroner Frank M. Banker of Franklin Grove is conducting an inquest this afternoon.

Chicago Dumping Grounds Closed

Chicago —Mayor Anton J. Cermak did away with the city's dumping grounds— not because there's no more garbage in Chicago but because of strikes among city laborers affiliated with several unions. The Mayor said the strikes were attempts to force the city to use higher priced dumps.

REDRAFTING OF BEER BILL AIM OF SENATE COM.

Will Endeavor To Insure the Measure Being Constitutional

Washington, Jan. 11—(AP)—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee decided today to redraft the House 3.2 per cent beer bill in a way which Chairman Blaine said would "bring it within the Constitution without any doubt whatever."

Senator Blaine, (R. Wis.), said an "overwhelming majority" of the group of five favored the redraft which will be drawn today and considered tomorrow.

The specific plan in mind was not announced, but several proposals have been advanced including the fixing of penalties for manufacturing beer above a certain percentage without attempting to define an intoxicant.

Considerable opposition to the beer bill on constitutional grounds was voiced at a public hearing last week by prohibition leaders, although others held it was within the power of Congress to define an intoxicating beverage.

Repeal Act Waits

Meanwhile, the prohibition repeal resolution drafted by another Judiciary subcommittee is awaiting Senate consideration, and leaders look for its adoption in the Senate but express grave doubt as to House approval because of Speaker Garner's objection.

Garner holds the resolution is not in line with the Democratic platform calling for outright repeal and has served notice he will not permit a suspension of the House rules to take up the Senate proposition, if it passes the latter body.

In the House today, an amendment to the Collier beer bill to permit nationwide advertising of the 3.2 per cent beverage in newspapers was introduced by Representative Erk (R. Pa.) as the result of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association.

The Collier bill prohibits the advertising of or solicitaton of orders for the beverage.

To meet President Hoover's request, the Senate Foreign relations committee favorably reported a resolution authorizing the executive to place an embargo on arms to nations at war or threatening war.

House Activities

An effort to kill the emergency farm bill by striking out its enacting clause was defeated today in the House by a 161 to 100 vote.

The House also rejected an amendment to include corn directly in the bill.

Previously after a plea from Chairman Jones not to further add or substract from the commodities in the plan, House members had divided 189 to 88 against eliminating hogs.

The House Foreign Affairs committee today approved the McReynolds resolution to authorize $150,000 for the American participation in the world economic conference this spring.

TRAIN WRECK AVERTED

Belleville, Ill., Jan. 11 — (AP) — What county officers believe was an attempt by transients to wreck a fast freight train laden with food, was foiled last night when the engineer of the L. & N. train stopped his locomotive short of hitting a small railroad truck laden with ties on the track near Rentchler, Ill.

Sheriff Jerome Munie said he believed the truck was placed on the track by tramps for the purpose of wrecking the train and obtaining food.

Speeder Turns Out To Be Jail Breaker

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—If Morris Brown, 27, hadn't been speeding along a Chicago street he probably would not be in custody in Ottawa Ill., today on a charge of being one of a group of five men who staged a jail delivery there last fall, police said.

The arrest occurred last night and was purely accidental, police said. After stopping and questioning Brown officer said they decided to turn him over to the Bureau of Identification.

EDITORIAL

THE THWARTED POLITICIANS

Some of the members of the city council are so peeved about the way the water works election went that they have decided that the Evening Telegraph should be punished for daring to have an opinion contrary to their own. We hope they will not carry their vindictiveness so far as to try to take it out on the more than seventeen hundred voters who also disagreed with them.

They apparently selected Commissioner Hiram Brooks for their mouth-piece and at last evening's council meeting that gentleman unburdened himself at great length and, naturally, made many misstatements concerning this newspaper. If he thinks he can bully The Telegraph into favoring a fantastic scheme like the purchase of the Dixon Water Company at an exhorbitant price he is mistaken.

Because The Telegraph in a recent editorial, while declaring that the recent beautification of the north river bank near the high school made a very attractive and needed improvement, the cost of it is an additional burden to taxpayers who are already overburdened and that since we had gotten along here in Dixon for the past one hundred years without it we could have struggled along for another year or two until times got better, Mr. Brooks takes issue. He said that a year ago last September The Telegraph editorially urged such an improvement. Without checking up the accurracy of his statement, we reply to Mr. Brooks that no doubt he is correct. A year and a half ago business conditions looked much better than they do today. When times get better again we expect again to urge more parks and playgrounds.

Mr. Brooks complains that we want Rock River dredged at "great expense. Rock River is already navigable up to a point near the west city limits and the expense of finishing it, which would be born by the federal government, would be comparatively little.

Mr. Brooks said that The Telegraph charged attorneys more for their publications than "any other city around here." We challenge Mr. Brooks to show ONE city around here that charges less than the Telegraph's charge of ten cents per line, the rate set by statute.

He complains that the Editor once had a state job, a job that ended four years ago, darn it. Has he just found that out?

He says that in 1911, which was twenty-two years ago, The Telegraph editorially advocated the purchase of the Dixon Water Company. Does he not know that at that time the Dixon Water Company was practically bankrupt and that either city purchase or reorganization was necessary to help the company carry on and the purchase price at that time would have been a fair one?

He says that we defend and apologize for Samuel Insull. We do no such thing. We say that the governmental system which allows such structures as the Insull organization to rise is as much at fault as was Insull himself.

Mr. Brooks compared the cost of publishing the ballots this last year and those of two years before. This year they were printed in Amboy at much less cost than two years ago, but apparently Mr. Brooks does not know that two years ago, through an error in instructions from Springfield to local county officials, errors were made in the wording of the ballot which necessiated complete reprinting and The Telegraph charged a rate which was less than a number of counties around us and less than the rate set for all Illinois newspapers by the State Superintendent of Printing.

The Mayor admits in his attack on The Telegraph's editorial, that the cost of the improvement near the high school is $18,000. We are glad that its cost is spread out over a term of years, for that eases the burden somewhat, but it must all be paid, sometime, and the taxpayer's money must pay for it. We hope that the time will soon come again when the taxpayers can afford more of these fine improvements.

It is quite evident to any reader who will give fair and unbiased thought to the matter, that the attack on this newspaper is without any foundation of fact. It is inspired by men who have been discredited by the recent election, but who were given fair treatment by this newspaper in the compaign and whose opinions and claims for purchase of the water company were published in detail and at length many times in this paper without charge.

CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD UNCLE SAM IS CHARGED

Federal Grand Jury In Chicago Ordered To Investigate

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—In what he said was an effort to determine if a conspiracy to defraud the government existed, Federal Judge John P. Barnes has ordered a grand jury investigation to begin today of a $5,000 war risk insurance case.

The court halted the case abruptly yesterday and cited the plaintiff for contempt.

United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green in commenting upon Judge Barnes' action said the jury was unlimited in the scope of its investigation and might extend it to include any of 500 similar cases pending and involing $5,000,-000.

The Judge gave the order for the grand jury investigation to Assistant District Attorney Francis J Kennedy, saying:

"I want you to begin a grand jury investigation of this case as speedily as possible and with due diligence."

The case was brought by a former veteran, Richard Birdwell, 42, a Negro, on a plea that he had contracted tuberculosis while in the service in France.

He was represented in court by Attorney Edward H. S. Martin and expert testimony was given by Dr. Orlando F. Scott, physician and psychiatrist. The name of State Senator James J. Barbour appeared as a counsel in the records. Barbour denied any interest in the case, declaring he and Martin have offices together but are not associated.

Government witnesses testified Birdwell was suffering from chronic bronichitis and not from tuberculosis.

Winnie Judd Will Confront Halloran

Phoenix, Ariz. Jan. 11 J—(AP)— For the first time in the history of the Arizona "trunk" slayings, blonde Winnie Ruth Judd was expected to confront John J. Halloran, the man whom she has accused of being her accomplice, in court today.

Superior Judge Marlin T. Phelps signed a court order for Mrs. Judd to appear at the preliminary hearing of the wealthy lumberman on a complaint charging him with being "an accessory to the crime of murder" in that he "aided and assisted" Mrs. Judd in "disposing of the body of Agnes Anne Le Roi, for whose murder Mrs. Judd was convicted and sentenced to death.

Mrs. Judd was expected to relate from the witness stand her alleged "whole truth story" of the killings of Mrs. Le Roi and Miss Hedvig Samuelson, both of whom were slain in a Phoenix bungalow in October 1931. Bodies of both women were dismembered and sent to Los Angeles in trunks.

Japan To Reserve "Protest" Rights

Tokyo, Jan. 11—(AP)—The Japanese government today replied to a Chinese protest against the occupation of Shanhaikwan with the statement that Japan "expressly reserves the right to make demands" in connection with any settlement.

The protest from the Chinese Nationalist government was received earlier today.

The Japanese reply held the Chinese Garrison entirely responsible for the outbreak of hostilities at Shanhaikwan, China's northern railway terminal, on the night of January 1.

Although the reply did not mention the Boxer protocol of three decades ago, under which foreign powers were permitted to place troops in North China to keep the Peiping-Shanhaikwan railway open a Foreign Office spokesman believed provisions of this protocol would be among Japan's reserved "demands."

Gangland Ready To Put On Great Show

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—Gangland was ready to put on one of its big public shows today in the funeral of Ted Newberry, one-time Capone henchman, who was "rubbed out" in one of those exclusively private "rides" from which guests never return—alive.

His body lay last night in a silver bronze casket in an undertaker's chapel almost hidden by elaborate floral pieces and sprays of cut flowers which were banked high around it.

The funeral was set for this afternoon, and talk was that it would be the biggest of its kind since Dion O'Banion's bullet-scarred body was laid to rest in 1924.

Sentences Of Two "Lifers" Commuted

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 11 —(AP)— Two "lifers" in the state penitentiary here had cause for rejoicing today after learning that former Governor Louis L. Emmerson had commuted their sentences during his last day in office.

They are Paul A. Porter, sentenced in May, 1918, for the slaying of Detective Michael Shea in Evanston, and James Davis of Franklin county, who entered the prison in June, 1926.

Emmerson followed the state Pardon Board's recommendation that Porter should be freed on May 16, 1935, and that Davis be released on Feb. 25, 1937.

YOUNG MOTHER INDICTED FOR BABIES' DEATHS

Mrs. Inez Carrell To Stand Trial In Coles Coutny

Charleston, Ill., Jan. 11—(AP)— Mrs. Inez S. Carrell, 29-year-old Chicago widow, today faced arraignment on an indictment charging her with the murder of her three small children in Mattoon, Ill., last October.

The indictment was returned late yesterday by a Coles county special grand jury. Mrs. Carrell has remained in the county jail since being released from a hospital where she recovered within a few weeks from the effects of poison taken at the time the children were slain.

Ben F. Anderson, her attorney, said he would attempt to delay the arraignment on the ground that Mrs. Carrell was in no condition to appear. He also denied she would plead guilty and said an insanity hearing would be waived and a jury trial sought before the Circuit Court Judge, Murray S. Clark.

The three children, found drowned in a hotel bathtub were Mary Ellen, 5, Robert, 7, and June 10. On the floor beside them lay the mother, in a stupor from the poison.

Authorities said she told them she had committed the slaying because she had been unable to obtain employment after her husband's death in Chicago and feared she could not provide for her children. They quoted her as declaring the family faced immediate starvation.

HEAD OF DIXON STATE HOSPITAL ON COMMITTEE

Which Will Ask State To Build Hospital For For Delinquents

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—A committee of experts today planned to ask the state legislature to erect a walled institution for the life confinement of juvenile and feeble minded delinquents.

Meeting last night, the committee, which included psychiatrists, penologists and criminologists selected by Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, director of the Criminal Court Behavior Clinic, drew up three proposed amendments to the present feble minded act of 1915.

The first would provide for the permanent confinement of any feeble minded person convicted of a criminal offense under the Juvenile Court act under the custody of the state Department of Public Welfare.

Under the second delinquents would be forbidden leaves of absence and deprived of the right of parole, and under the third the Public Welfare Department would have to bear the expense and responsibility for the return of any who might escape.

Site Suggested

The committee even went so far as to suggest as a site for the institution a 50-acre promotory jutting into the Illinois river at Buffalo Rock. Dr. Andrew Harvey, Chief Surgeon of the Crane Company, and a member of the committee, said the site had been deeded to the state by the late Richard T. Crane. It was entirely surrounded by water except for a 90-foot cliff on the neck connecting it with the mainland, he said.

The committee organized and elected Dr. Hoffman Chairman and Dr. Paul L. Schroeder of the University of Illinois, secretary. Other members are from Chicago with the exception of Dr. Warren G. Murray, Managing Officer of the state hospital at Dixon.

BEATEN OFFICIALS ASSAIL TELEGRAPH IN COUNCIL MEET

Brooks Bitterly Denounced This Paper Last Evening

Smarting under the stinging rebuke given by the voters of Dixon at the election of January 3rd, Commissioner Hiram Brooks broke forth last night at the city council meeting with a great tirade of mud-slinging at the Tvening Teleraph. Mayor Dixon also complained about this paper. Commissioner Brooks and the Mayor were the most active leaders in the campaign to get the city to buy the Dixon Water Company at a stipulated price of $520,000, with an extra $70,000 worth of bonds issued.

Only a short time was necessary in the transaction of the routine business to come before the council, after which the publishers of the Dixon Evening Telegraph were bitterly assailed for the publication of an editorial following the special city election last week on the question of purchasing the Dixon Water company properties.

Brooks Opens Gas Attack

Commissioner H. A. Brooks led the attack, as had been rumored for several days, and arising to a point of privilege, charged that the editorial reflected upon the city council as practicing extravagance. Referring to the publication, the commissioner cited an editorial appearing in an issue a year ago last September in which the beautification of the north and south river banks was urged.

"This paper now editorially denounces in the most positive terms the very thing they recommended. When did it become so interested in saving for the City of Dixon? It urged parks and recreation grounds for the south side and the west end. It was only a few years ago that the city paid $59,000 for a thread of land, and now, why this change of heart?

"Great confidence is heaped upon one member of this council in this latest editorial. All of the members of this council signed the recommendation for the purchase of the Dixon Water company and for the passage of the ordinance. One of the commissioners backed out when the ordinance came before the council for a vote. Are they sincere or is this a lot of 'sour grapes'?"

And We Still Do

"At the top of its editorial page, The Telegraph has a program which is printed each day. It encourages increased population for Dixon. It advocates the dredging of the river for a deep water way at a great expense; a zoning law, the extension of the city limits; a smoke nuisance ordinance; the repaving and widening of the streets in the business section. This corncil undertook a plan to widen the streets and not a single word encouraging to this project was given in these columns. It advocates the building of a municipal swimming pool at an expense of between ten and fifteen thousand dollars, yet it severely criticizes the council for this special election.

"I have a letter dated January 7, 1933, from the department of public health at Springfield which shows that the editor of this paper from July 6, 1923 until February, 1929 received a salary of $300 per month from the state.

But Not At Fancy Prices

Commissioner Brooks produced a copy of the Telegraph of 1911 in which he told the council that the entire front page was devoted to an editorial advocating the purchase of the Dixon Water company through a bond issue, practically the same plan as adopted by the present council, and read, at some length from this editorial.

The commissioner compared the cost of printing ballots in Lee and Whiteside counties and compared the prices of this year and two years ago.

Returning to the Water Company purchase proposition, the commissioner said:

"The council were simply doing their duty for the express purpose of submitting the matter to the taxpayers, and why then, all of this patroitism?"

Referring to an editorial appearing in a recent issue of The Telegraph pertaining to Samuel Insull, the commissioner charged that Insull was a most notorious character, then charged:

He Would Not Read All

"This paper has always been an apologist for this class, yet criticises the city council."

He read sections of the editorial and commented at some length, stating:

"Insull defrauded the people of this city out of hundreds of thousands of dollars, yet this newspaper throws the dishwater on this council. They assume to be so good and so virtuous, yet defend this infamous scoundrel. This council acted in perfect good faith and rode no hobby horses. This paper has no defense whatever.

Campbell Defends Self

Commissioner George Campbell arose to defend himself in the reference to his attitude on the Dixon Water company purchase proposition, and said:

"I voted as I thought right, and I defy anybody to say that I did not vote honorably and squarely."

Mayor Dixon then expressed his attitude with relation to the editorial, and stated that he desired that the figures that he had obtained at the court house and was about to quote, be published as

Dying Man Says Cousin Shot Him

Murphysboro, Ill., Jan 11—(AP)—Andrew Reiman, 38, formerly of north of Murphysboro, was arrested by Sheriff W. W. Ozburn today, following the fatal shooting yesterday of his cousin, Fred R. Reiman, 50, at the latter's farm house north of here.

Last summer about harvest time, Howard Reiman, son of Fred, shot and killed Otho Reiman, a brother of the man arrested today and wounded Andrew in a quarrel over the killing of a pet dog. Feeling was intense between the families. Howard is awaiting trial on a charge of murder.

Andrew Reiman told Sheriff Ozburn today he was working on his farm at the time Fred was shot. Andrew said neighbors and relatives would verify his story.

On his death bed today, Fred Reiman said he entered his home yesterday and found the front and rear doors open. Suddenly, he said, he was confronted by a man wearing a false mustache and a handkerchief around his face. Despite this disguise, he said he recognized the man as his cousin. The man shot him with a rifle and he lay on the floor until found by friends and brought to a hospital here. Fred died about 9:30 A. M. today.

HE'S LIGHT ON SHOES

Salt Lake City, Utah—J. R. Venable is "God's gift" to shoe repair men, but shoe manufacturers do not care much for his type. Since the year 1897 Venable has had only five pairs of shoes and he still has two of the pairs unworn. His only trouble is with soles and these he has repaired every 90 days. In that 35 years he has only worn out two of the five pairs of shoes.

STATE RESTS CASE

CABBIES TAKE THE AIR

LONDON— It would't be such a shock to London cab drivers if airplanes were to take the place of automobiles. Several taxi drivers who had seen service in the Royal Air Force as pilots, mechanics or engineers got together and formed a Flying Club, the object of which is to qualify its members as air pilots.

New Charges Are Hurled At Stock Exchange Today

Washington, Jan. 11—(AP)—Substitution of inferior collateral to back a $26,500,000 issue of Kreuger & Toll bonds sold in the United States under an agreement approved by the New York Stock Exchange was charged today at the resumption of the Senate stock committee investigation.

Questioned closely by members of the Senate Banking committee, Donald Durant, partner of Lee Higginson & Company, bankers for the bonds, told of the substitutions of Hungarian for French bonds back of the issue.

The committee had evidence that the agreement under which the substitutions were made was approved by the New York Stock Exchange.

Durant contended that the Hungarian bonds were good, but that exchange difficulties prevented payments from being made.

The committee developed testimony that the Stock Exchange was not informed of the collateral substitutions until after the suicide of Ivar Kreuger, Swedish industrialist, in March, 1932.

The indictment of Sussman was said by authorities to have resulted from the investigation into the $372,000 fire in Centraelia last May. Authorities said several of the members of the alleged arson ring which is accused of the May fire also were believed to have been implicated in the Sussman fire.

BEATEN OFFICIALS ASSAIL TELEGRAPH IN COUNCIL MEET

given or not at all.

"The figures on the high school improvement were presented to the public in a very misleading manner," he said. "The total improvement cost $18,000.00. Of that amount, $12,715 was assessed against the city of Dixon, the balance against other property owners including the board of education. It does not mean that the amount was paid out of the city treasury this year. The truth is that it was not paid out this year.

"For a good many years public improvements were paid in ten annual installments. This particular improvement was spread over a 20 year period. The first installment for this year amounts to $1,271.24 and not $18,000. Next year the sum to be paid out of the tax fund of the city is $1,271.24 and for the remaining years, the amount is $565.14. This represents the total assessment against the city and the board of education and not against other property owners.

"The total cost to The Telegraph for real estate for the assessment on that job is approximately $1.99 including interest for this year. The amount is about the same for the next year and for the remaining 18 years approximately $1.06, this amount being reduced each year as the interest is paid off. This council will be only too glad to furnish figures to any other property owner interested in this improvement. The City National Bank, taken as one of the largest interests affected will pay approximately $19.15 this year, the same next year and $7.99 the third year, the amount gradually being reduced for the remaining years including the interest.

Minor Business

"It might be well for the public to know the truth and not the insinuation that the $18,000 has not been taken out of the pockets of the taxpayers this year. This is paid out of the general tax levy for the purpose of retiring local improvement bonds and is not an additional tax. The amount was levied for that particular job and does not invoke any increase in taxation.

"I am not making this statement in any sense of criticism, but in defense of the members of the city council and that the public may know the truth. Any others who are interested may obtain the figures from the council instead of from an irresponsible source."

Commissioners Loftus and Nichols were silent throughout the lengthy tirade.

The business transacted before the council was of minute importance. City Attorney Martin Gannon presented an opinion, relating to a petition filed by the coal dealers of the city on December 21 of last year in which they advocated the enforcement of the weights and measures ordinance. The opinion stated that cities of 25,000 population were to maintain the office of a city weigh master under the statutes and that an ordinance passed in 1915 provided for a city sealer in Dixon. The city attorney suggested a conference of the coal dealers and members of the city council to effect the enforcement of the city ordinance. The mayor stated that notice had been sent to the coal dealers to be present at his session, but none were in attendance and action was deferred until the next meeting.

SIMPLIFICATION OF GOVERNMENT IS RECOMMENDED

State Commission Submits Seventeen Proposals

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11— (AP) — Seventeen proposals for the simplification of local government were presented by a sub-committee to the Illinois Commission on taxation and expenditures today. The plans will be embodied in legislation to be introduced in the legislature.

The proposals follow:

The 12,085 school districts in Illinois should be re-organized into a smaller number of school units managed by elected boards functioning administratively through qualified superintendents.

In Cook county, outside of Chicago, the school system should be integrated through all grades, and community school units established around centers of population and tributary environs, each unit to be governed by an elected board of education.

In Chicago, the triple headed executive organization should be altered, making the Superintendent of Schools the chief executive officer and the only officer reporting directly to the board.

Instead of having a County Judge for each county, districts embracing several counties should be created and all of the county court jurisdiction in said counties should be exercised by one County Judge.

Would Abolish Coroner

By constitutional amendment, the office of Coroner should be abolished.

In Cook county all of the courts should be merged in a single court having jurisdiction throughout the county, which involves several constitutional changes.

The officers of local Highway Commissioners should be abolished and their functions should be performed by a County Highway Superintendent, properly qualified.

In Cook county, to such extent as the General Assembly may deem proper, a county-wide highway organization should control all highways in unincorporated areas and all arterial streets and boulevards in municipalities. The local improvement act should be simplified.

For Fewer Elections

The number of elections should be reduced and the manner of conducting elections should be simplified so that larger precincts could be created and managed at a reduced cost. Public buildings should be used as polling places to eliminate an enormous item of expense. A permanent system of registration should be adopted.

A state department should be authorized to establish a unified system of accounting for all local governments in the state, to audit their affairs and assist them in budgeting and perfecting the organization and procedures for fiscal control.

Any township county should be authorized to adopt the non-township form of government upon petition of not less tha 100 legal voters of the county and subsequent approval by a majority of the voters at a general election.

Other Suggestions

The office of County Surveyor should be abolished.

Legislation should be enacted to permit the establishment in Cook county of a metropolitan police administration with jurisdiction throughoout the county.

Legislation should be enacted to permit the establishment in Cook county of a metropolitan bureau of water supply with jurisdiction throughout the county.

Legislation should be enacted to permit the establishment in Cook county of a metropolitan bureau of sanitation with jurisdiction throughout the county, to supplant the Sanitary District of Chicago and other sanitary districts in the county.

Legislation should be enacted for the consolidation of the three large Chicago park districts and the forest preserve district of Cook county, permitting smaller park districts in Cook county upon a vote of their citizens to join the merged park district.

In the state outside of Cook county all city courts should be abolished.

The sub-committee was appointed April 20 and held several public hearings in Chicago. Its members were Rep. Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Chicago; Sen. Adelbert H. Roberts, Chicago; and Rep. Michael F. Hennebry, Wilmington. Senator Martin R. Carlson, Moline, is chairman of the commission.

TO A LONE PINE TREE

STRAIGHT and tall you stand,
A lonely sentinel
Outlined against a wintry sky,
Around your feet
The sleeping grasses lie
Beneath a coverlet of snow
Spread by Nature's hand.

Brave and tall you stand,
A silhouette dark against the night.
How still you keep!
As if you feared to awaken
Them that sleep,
While the pale moon sheds a silver light
Throughout the land.

O patient tree, you hold your head so high,
Tell us, can you see the coming Spring?
Can you smell the fragrance of the flowers?
Or hear the flutter of a robin's wing?
Then patiently we'll wait
E'en as you, with noble head held high,
Wait so trustingly 'neath wintry sky.

WHAT PANTS?

Los Angeles— American Airways headquarters nearly had local officials running around in their "undies" when they sent them the ambiguous order. "Remove pants for winter." Fears were dispelled, however, when it was explained that the order meant to remove the streamlines from landing gear, to prevent mud and ice jamming the wheels and causing accidents.

One Billion Dollars Fine . .
90 Million Days Imprisonment
for NEGLECT of COLDS

EVERY YEAR, the common cold costs America over a billion dollars! Every year, colds imprison people at home—away from work—for more than 90 million days!

These figures are based on estimates of the United States Public Health Service.

Nor does this terrific penalty imposed by colds include their misery and annoyance—their trouble and worry—their actual danger to health.

Now Comes RELIEF!

Happily—now—a way has been found to lift much of this burden. It comes with the new Vicks Plan for better Control of Colds.

In clinical tests among thousands last winter, Vicks Plan reduced the number and duration of colds by half!—cut the dangers and costs of colds more than half!

To millions of American homes, the Plan has already brought new freedom from colds.

Better Control of Colds

This unique and remarkable Plan was made possible by development of the new aid in preventing colds—Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. This new formula is the ideal companion to Vicks VapoRub, the modern way of treating colds. Together with certain simple rules of health, they form Vicks Plan for better Control of Colds—fully explained in each Vicks package. Very briefly, it is this:

To Prevent Many Colds

When Colds threaten—at that first feeling of stuffiness or nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze—Nature's usual warning that a cold is coming on—use Vicks Nose Drops at once! They soothe irritation and aid Nature's functions in throwing off the infection that threatens. They prevent development of many colds.

To End a Cold Sooner

If a cold has developed or strikes without warning, vigorous measures are necessary. At bedtime, apply Vicks VapoRub over throat and chest. Its direct double-action continues through the night. By morning the worst of a cold is usually over. During the day, use the convenient Vicks Nose Drops for added comfort and relief.

For FEWER Colds — LESS SEVERE Colds — LESS EXPENSE

OUR DWINDLING RESOURCES.

While the man in the street is trying to figure out just where the machine age is leading him, scientists are quietly remarking that the age of machinery is apt to come to an abrupt end in the not-distant future because of the complete exhaustion of those natural resources which make a machine age possible.

Prof. Ross A. Gortner, University of Minnesota biochemist, has prepared a set of estimates about these things that have an ominous and chilling sound.

The world's stocks of coal and oil, without which the abundant energy of the machine age cannot be obtained, will be gone, forever, inside of 10 centuries, says Professor Gortner. The world's iron will all be used up in 250 years. Copper, zinc, lead and tin will be gone long before the iron is gone.

Indeed, these time estimates are probably more liberal than they should be. They are based on the date at which the world is now consuming the commodities in question; but in many cases the rate is constantly increasing, so that the bottom of the barrel may be reached, not in centuries, but in decades.

And then what happens? What becomes of a world which is tied together with hands of steel and copper and kept running with coal and oil, when the steel and copper and coal and oil are gone and there is no chance of digging up a new supply? What happens to its railroads and steamships and telephone lines and electric light plants and factories and automobiles and so on?

It makes a rather terrifying picture. We like to feel that we are at the dawning of a vast new epoch in human society, an epoch which will continue, in intricate mechanical precision, for century upon century; it is like stepping off into the dark to reflect that this "new epoch" may only be a comparatively brief interlude in human history, followed, as it was preceded, by an age of stage-coaches, sailing ships, hand looms and pick and shovel labor.

Of course, it hasn't happened yet; and prolific science may come to the rescue with synthetic fuels, synthetic metals, and what-not. But the possibility remains, ominous and gloomy. It isn't a pleasant thing to think about.

IT'S GEORGIA'S PROBLEM.

For quite a while residents of other states have had caustic things to say about Georgia's system of prison camps. Now, however, a group of 16 prominent citizens of Georgia have picked up the charges and have asked the state legislature to look into the matter exhaustively and correct any abuses that may exist; and those who live outside of the state might just as well save their breath until this group has got the action it craves.

The problem, after all, is Georgia's. No American state has yet devised a penal system that is really enlightened and humane; the differences that exist between the various state systems are differences of degree and not of kind. Georgia's conscience, evidently, has been stirred by the criticisms that have been made. It might be a good thing for non-resident critics to wait, now, and let Georgia handle her own problem in her own way.

WHERE THE BLAME RESTS

Congressman George Huddleston of Alabama, interviewed at Washington by Rodney Dutcher, utters a few truths that all critics of Congress ought to bear in mind.

"The responsibility of Congress," says Mr. Huddleston, "is secondary, for the people of the country are primarily responsible for what Congress does. Whatever we do here is what public opinion requires of us, and there is now no informed, coherent, intelligent public opinion."

This, of course, is self-evident—but we seldom stop to think about it. We assail Congress for its purposelessness, its inefficiency and its changeableness, forgetting that Congress is a most accurate reflector of the nation's state of mind. In the last analysis, the shortcomings of Congress trace directly back to the ordinary citizen; and when we wail about Congress we are simply indicating ourselves.

If a town has an epidemic, that's the worst possible time to close up the hospitals. Any community that fails in this depression to keep open its libraries is making a grave mistake.—Harry M. Lydenberg, president of the American Library Association.

I personally do not feel like fighting for the principals of a debt collector. Continued good relations and world peace are infinitely more precious than 200 million dollars a year.—Lawrence Dennis,, former U. S. diplomat and banker, World War veteran.

Technocracy has stopped Roger Babson, our Billy Sunday among economists, from talking about the spiritual value of hunger.—Merle D. Vincent, Denver (Colo.) fuel executive and authority on social problems.

The wonder is, not that so many of us find ourselves in prison, but that any of us have learned to keep out.—William King Gregory, paleontologist, Columbia University.

That's what made the Democratic party in New York—great big lavish charity.—Mayor John Patrick O'Brien of New York.

THE TINYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN — Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

As Duncy eyed the carrots he said, "Gee, but they look good to me. I have heard that they are very good to eat when they are raw.

"I'd like to nibbie one right now. I'd eat the whole thing up, somehow. I must admit they are the finest that I ever saw."

"I think you are hinting for some food," said Scouty. "Don't you know that is rude?' And then the market man broke in and he said, "Oh that is all right.

"Take one of anything you see. The treat, my lads, will be on me. I always like to feed wee boys, who have an appetite.'

Each Tiny took one carrot and wee Scouty said, "Please understand that it best to chew your food slowly. That is good advice.

"If lots of time each one will take, we will not get a tummy ache." And then they started eating. My, the carrots tasted nice.

"We are set to go," the rabbit cried. "And you lads promised me a ride. You'll find I'm rather heavy, but we will try it just the same.

"When I get seated I will yell, and then let's travel on, pell-mell. If you boys tip me over in the snow it will be a shame."

"Oh, we will be careful. Do not fret!" said Windy. "But, if you upset, I am sure it will not hurt you. We all took a fine ker-flop.

"The snow is very soft today. It's just like landing in some hay. Now if we get to traveling too fast for you, shout stop."

Away they went. And, gee, what fun! The Tinymites began to run, all taking turns at pushing. Merry shouts rang in the air.

The rabbit quite enjoyed the noise and soon it said. "Hey, faster, boys! We are going right to my house and we shortly will be there."

(The Tinymites meet some baby rabbits in the next story.)

W. C. T. U. Notes

The W. C. T. U. met Friday, January 6 with Mrs. Greeley, thirteen members and one visitor being present. The president and vice-presidents being absent, Mrs. Grace Withey, recording secretary, presided. Devotions were led by Mrs. Greeley who read several passages from the Book of Revelations as the scripture lesson.

Christmas music was an enjoyable part of the program, "Joy to the World" and "Silent Night" being used as chorus numbers and several other familiar selections as instrumental. Roll call, a verse on Prayer was responded to by all present.

The regular business session followed. The treasurer reminded us that we must have all yearly dues paid by March to be counted as a "hundred per cent" Union. A card was read from the county president, Mrs. Lewis, announcing a regional meeting to be held in Moline, Monday, January 16. She expressed the hope that our Union might be well represented. Plans were made for "Frances Willard Day", which will be the regular February meeting and will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Trostle. This will be guest day, and is one of the red letter days of the W. C. T. U. everywhere, as it commemorates the life of Frances E. Willard. This beautiful life came to a close on February 17, 1898, and so "Frances Willard Day" is always observed in February.

Petitions were read and unanimously approved urging our representatives at Washington, D. C., and Springfield, Illinois, to vote against any proposed measure for repeal or modification of the prohibition laws. After being approved and properly signed, one of these was sent to each of the following: U. S. Senators Otis Glenn and James Hamilton Lewis at Washington. State Senator Harry G. Wright and State Representative Henry C. Allen, Dennis J. Collins, and John P. Devine, at Springfield. These men are representing us at the national and state capitols, and only as the folks "back home" express their wishes to them, can they really represent us.

The program topic of the day was" Law Observance" and Mrs. Holley was the program leader. Several interesting and impressive articles were read concening the importance and necessity of obeying all laws—physical, civic and moral, if we wish to avoid chaos. Mrs. Johnson read a very interesting article on temperance education in Egypt. The meeting came to a close after which the hostess and Miss Clara Lahman served lovely refreshments and a pleasant social period was enjoyed.

STATE WIDE TAX STRIKE BECAME THREAT OF ASSN.

Notice Is Sent To State Legislators That They Must Act

Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 11 —(AP)—Threat of a state-wide taxpayers' strike was made as the annual meeting of the Illinois Taxpayers' League adopted more than a dozen resolutions demanding revenue reforms and governmental economies.

More than 300 delegates from taxpayers' leagues in thirty counties approved the sending of a notice to Illinois legislators that "pigeon-holing or side-tracking of these proposals will be met with a determined effort to inaugurate a state-wide tax strike."

Would Equalize Tax

The major resolution provided that a "1 per cent maximum general property tax on the full fair cash value be established in conjunction with provision for the compulsory filing of personal property schedules to the end that all forms of wealth may be assessed on a uniform basis as provided by our constitution."

The following were submitted by the Resolution Committee:

1. Whereas the people of Illinois are faced with the most serious financial depression known to history, and

Whereas the prices for grain and livestock have dropped to new all time lows, and

Whereas the total of all incomes in the United States has been reduced from 85 billion dollars in 1929 to 38 billion dollars in 1932, and

Whereas the total Federal, state and local tax bill has jumped from 3 billion dollars in 1913 to 15 billion dollars in 1931, and

Whereas the people are facing a catastrophe which will result very soon in the wiping out of all values and a complete collapse of all business and even of government itself unless drastic and heroic remedies are immediately applied, and

Whereas taxes on real estate and other tangible property are now taking all of the income therefrom or a large part thereof, and

Whereas this situation has brought about a crisis, and

Whereas this enormous burden of state and local taxes is due to extravagance, waste, and to the numerous overlapping and useless government units and to the unnecessary number of public officers, and employees, and to the unreasonably high salaries of the same, and to the selection of too many officers by election instead of by appointment, and

Whereas the power to relieve this situation lies within the authority and jurisdiction of the Illinois Legislature,

Therefore, be it resolved that the following resolutions be approved and adopted by the Illinois Taxpayers' Association in Convention assembled at Bloomington, Ill., January 10, 1933, and

Be it further resolved that the members of the 58th General Assembly be respectfully requested to enact such legislation as shall provide:

That an amendment to Article IX (the Revenue Article) of the present Illinois Constitution be submitted at the earliest practicable date to the electors for adoption to provide for a modern and efficient basis for revenue in the classification, valuation and assessment of property.

For the consolidation and simplification of the numerous overlapping local governments; the reduction of salaries to conform to existing economic conditions; the elimination of all superfluous employees; the reducton of election expense by combining state, county,, city and township election in one day.

That county boards of supervisors have authority to fix the amount of the salaries of all county officers.

That the State Auditor be empowered and directed to establish uniform systems of accounts, records and blank forms which shall be used by all county officers, and that it shall be the duty of the State Auditor to audit the books of the officers of each county at appropriate intervals.

That each tax levying body in the State of Illinois shall, not less than 30 days before the final date for the adoption of its levy ordinance or resolution, publish in at least one newspaper in the county, its proposed budget of expenditures for the next fiscal year, giving in detail all of the proposed items of expenditure.

That a 1 per cent maximum general property tax on full fair cash value be established in conjunction with provision for the compulsory filing of personal property schedules, to the end that all forms of wealth may be assessed on a uniform basis as provided by our Constitution.

The the present State Gasoline Tax be substantially reduced on gasoline which contains 10 per cent of alcohol produced from grain.

For a law requiring uniformity in all school text books used in Public Schools.

For reform in Court procedure to simplify and reduce the cost of same, including a reduction in jury fees.

That assistant supervisors be limited to 1 for every 10,000 of population.

That laws be revised to correct the abuses in the pension system.

TRUTH DODGERS

Dixon Evening Telegraph—Fired by the energy of a group of professional patriots, the National Economy League continues to pour thousands of dollars into a well of propaganda designed to engender anti-veteran sentiment in a movement that will bring pressure to bear upon Congress for the relief of America's preferred class of income tax-payers. Those who are wise enough to look for the Ethiopian in the woodpile whenever big business invests its money have long since come to the conclusion that the National Economy League knows but one god and but one creed—the well known dollar.

With ceaseless vigor, the National Economy League directs its attack upon those disabled veterans who are honestly entitled to government compensation by virtue of service connected disabilities as well as those who receive monthly sums ranging from $12.00 to $40.00 per month in the form of disability allowance payments for injuries that lack technical proof of service origin.

Because the equity of its demands would disappear like a mist before the sun—in the presence of the truth, the National Economy League deliberately ignores the fact that the great percentage of those who receive disability allowance payments were formerly regarded as "border line" cases under the World War Veterans Act.

Although the law specifically states that these "border line" cases were to be given the "benefit of the doubt" this privilege was denied by red tape regulations laid down by Veterans Administration officials anxious to make favorable showings for their particular departments. These are the disabled veterans, however, who compose the largest portion of those who now receive disability allowance payments and whom the National Economy League would have the country believe are mere "pension acketeers."

Literally construed, the program of the National Economy League is particularly aimed at those comparatively few veterans who receive disability allowance benefits for injuries that are admittedly nonservice connected. The National Economy League again evades obvious facts when it pretends to forget that unless these disabled veterans receive some measure of help from the government, they will become burdens upon their respective communities—burdens which the small taxpayer will have to bear in the form of increased local taxes for the support of charitable institutions and larger contributions to local community chests.

The National Economy League—from its pedestal of patriotic virtue—wants to know why the government should make a distinction and favor veterans who are disabled in civil life while others in similar plights must take care of themselves. Certainly the citizen who has proved his loyalty by actual service and sacrifice is entitled to a front rank among those upon whom the government should bestow its favors when these are necessary.

When Congress created the Disability Allowance Act, the members who voted for passage of this bill were responding to humanitarian and patriotic instincts.

They refused to tolerate theories in the face of an actual condition. President Hoover affixed his signature to the measure fully convinced it was worthy of his indorsement. Recently, in his farewell message to the 72nd Congress, President Hoover again repeated his approval of the purpose of the disability allowance act when he stated definitely that the care of disabled veterans is a federal obligation.

The disability allowance law as it stands today is sound and equitable. It guarantees some measure of assistance for the worthy veteran whose claim for full compensation is hampered by the absence of technical proof. It relieves the economic strain upon local communities by contributing to the support of other veterans who find themselves in distress.

We recognize the theory that those who made the largest profits during the war must expect to assume the resultant burden of cost in the sad aftermath that is certain to follow.

IOWA GOVERNOR DEMANDS CHANGE IN STATE LAWS

Protection Of Owner Of Farm And Home Is His Plea

Des Moines, Jan. 11—(AP)—Revisions of the mortgage foreclosure laws to protect the land and home owner in the present emergency and of the act providing for tax sales and extra penalties was advocated Tuesday by Gov. Dan Turner in his biennial message to the state legislature.

Declaring the present "poor laws" of the state are antiquated and are insufficient to meet adequately the present emergency situation, the Governor also urged changes to make it possible for counties to obtain poor relief loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Asserting that "Iowa farm mortgages have been foreclosed at an alarming rate in recent months," the Governor said, "holders of first mortgage justify foreclosure upon the ground that it is necessary to protect and perfect their lien upon the crops by first demanding the appointment of a receiver."

Excuse Overworked

"Large (eastern) insurance and loan companies have overworked this excuse," he said. "This is obvious when it is found certain of these companies are regularly lenient with the farmer with a thin equity and just as regularly insistent upon foreclosure upon the slightest default against the farmer with a substantial equity when the mortgage can make a profit upon resale as soon as a Sheriff's deed issues.

"The practice of the Joint Stock Land Banks in this and all other respects has been ruthless and destructive to the farm owner. The aggregate result of these practices has been to put honest, deserving farmers out of their home, with vicious deficiency judgments hanging over their heads, and to glut the land market with Iowa farms at forced sales.

"It is vital that this legislature revise the mortgage foreclosure law to protect the land and home owner in the present emergency."

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington —(AP)— One of the clearest pictures of the late Calvin Coolidge —that which portrays what is sometimes called the "human side" of a man—was given those in Washington who knew him when he came here July 23, 1929, to attend the formal proclamation of the Kellogg peace treaty.

It was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon after the pomp and ceremony of the promulgation of the treaty at the White House was over.

Gathered outside the suite of the hotel where he was stopping, and, incidentally, the one in which he lived while he was vice-president, were a hundred or more newspapermen. He had sent word that he wanted to see them before leaving again for Northampton.

No Formality This Time

It might have been a formal press conference, like the ones he was accustomed to give twice a week while he was in the White House, from all appearances.

But once in his presence, to a man, they sensed a change.

He hadn't changed in appearance since most of them had bade him goodbye from the rear of his special train that took him back to Northampton, at the close of that rainy inauguration day some four months back.

The familiar cigar was still encased in the white holder; his voice was as twangy as ever; the same half-grin with which he used to greet them was perceptible.

"I suppose you want to know what I've been doing while I have been away," he said, half-amused.

"I have done a little writing that you can read, if you want to —I have read some of yours.

Thanked Them For Card

"I appreciate your coming in. I was more anxious to greet you personally than I was professionally—and to thank you for the card you sent me on my birthday—"

Then, a bit mischievously, he added:

"I hope you are having a pleasant summer here."

It was the first direct quotations of his remarks ever permitted in Washington. It was the last time he ever met the Washington news corps.

DIARRHEA

Diarrhea and vomiting, particularly in infants, no matter what their original cause may be, seriously upset the individual's constitution.

The loss of body fluids incidental to diarrhea and vomiting produces what is called dehydration or drying out of the body, interferes with proper circulation of the blood, and in some cases produces what amounts to a true acidosis.

In infants, severe attacks of diarrhea and vomiting have resulted in a high mortality rate

How did the trained bear behave for you? Here's the way the seven puzzle pieces may be put together to form his silhouette.

Some scientists report that more than 50 per cent of infants so affected die.

Recent methods of treatment for these conditions developed by Doctors Karelitz and Schick have resulted in an appreciable reduction of mortality.

In a series of 53 cases which they treated, the mortality was 12 per cent, as compared with 64 per cent, the record for the preceding 10 years in the hospital in which this experimental work was done.

The newer treatment for the conditions associated with diarrhea and vomiting leading to what is called alimentary toxicosis, consists of the intravenous injection of a sterile water solution containing both sugar and salt.

This solution is given by injection into the vein because it was found that when given by mouth it acts as an irritant and may increase both the diarrhea and the vomiting. Where necessary, blood transfusions are added as part of the treatment.

While this method of treatment requires technical skill and special facilities, and is applicable mainly in the more serious cases of diarrhea and vomiting, the experience of these doctors calls to our attention the importance of maintaining a balance in the body fluids.

It is not uncommon to find home-treated patients mildly ill with diarrhea, vomiting, or fever, suffering from a partial dehydration of the body.

Unless there are specific reasons against it, care should be taken to see that the sick, feverish patient receives a sufficiency of water and fluids.

Threatens Strike Of Rail Employes

Washington, Jan. 10 —(AP)— A possibility that railroad workers might strike to force shorter working hours to spread employment, unless Congress orders lessened laboring periods was voiced before a Senate committee today by Arthur J. Lovell of Cleveland, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

He endorsed the bill of Senator Black (D. Ala.) for a five-day week and six-hour day.

"Suppose the courts held this bill unconstitutional?" asked Norris, chairman of the Senate committee. "Do you think it would be possible for the men and their employers to agree on any shortening of the work day?"

Lovell said: "The situation would become desparate with hundreds of thousands of railroad men out of work. When men are losing their homes, they become desperate.

"I'm not so sure they wouldn't find recourse in their economic stress through strikes. I would be reluctant to resort to strikes. Legislation should be enacted to provide such conditions without warfare."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SHEILA SHAYNE, 18, whose parents were well known vaudeville actors, is in New York looking for a job. Sheila is a dancer. In spite of the fact that she has spent almost her entire life on the stage her ambition is to marry and have a home like those she has seen in small towns in which she has played.

On a few hours' notice she is hired to take the place of DAISY GLEASON, another dancer, who has sprained an ankle. She goes to JOE PARIS' office in "Tin Pan Alley" to rehearse. There she meets TREVOR LANE and DICK STANLEY, both rich. Lane asks Sheila to dance at a party he is giving but she refuses, knowing that after a day of rehearsing and the performance that night she will be too tired.

Sheila goes to the theater. The show begins and she wins applause with her dancing. Suddenly she discovers Dick Stanley in the audience. He waits for her after the show and again urges her to come to Lane's party. Somewhat against her better judgment she agrees.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

SHEILA heard that ripple of laughter. She did not turn and so she did not learn the speaker's identity. But the words brought a chill about her heart. "Dick's girls are always pretty," the unknown woman had said. Of course such a young man as Dick Stanley must know many girls. He must be in constant demand at parties and dinners where there were beautifully gowned, beautifully groomed young women.

And say what you would clothes did make a difference! Look at what they could do for a newly discovered movie star. They had changed Norma Seabury in one short year from a pretty, ordinary little Brooklyn girl to a suave, sophisticated beauty who knew how to walk and talk, to rise from a chair and sit down.

These girls who were Trevor Lane's guests were not like Norma. Their glamour was more natural, less affected. They had been born to this life of luxury.

Sheila looked about her at the blond, black and titian heads, the gleaming white shoulders accented against the trim black coats of the men. Some were dancing, some chatting. Laughter broke forth and trickled across the room in gentle, well-modulated ripples. Then the brilliant rustle of voices was suddenly hushed.

"There's a clever little girl for you," Dick was saying, clapping as he did so. Following his eyes toward a Japanese screen which half concealed a door into another room, Sheila waited expectantly. She had not heard the announcement which had prompted Dick's words. Another little dart of jealousy shot through her. Here obviously was an entertainer of whom Dick approved.

A hush fell and the girl stood before them. She was slender, not very tall, dressed in flesh-colored tights and a jeweled bodice. A silken fringe circled her waist. Her dark eyes sparkled in the delicate, piquant little face beneath a lovely pink silk wig. She looked almost like a small boudoir doll. It was Frances Barton the eccentric dancer.

"Dick promised that he would try to make you change your mind," Lane said.

Frances was the best in her line—the originator of a dozen routines so difficult that only a few of her imitators could follow them. She had been in half a dozen Broadway shows and was in one now. Like Sheila, she had come to the party following the performance.

SHEILA saw Dick Stanley's eyes light and his smile flash. His gaze was as ardent, as eager as it had been when he had turned toward Sheila herself. Hotly she told herself that to Dick Stanley she was just another girl. How could she have been so foolish as to believe that he was interested in her? Just because he had taken the trouble to call for her at the theater?

"She's great, isn't she?" Dick was saying, unconscious of the tumult he had caused in Sheila's heart. "You must meet her. I know you'll like her."

"Do you know her well?" Sheila asked.

"Know her? I should say I do. Let's move forward. You don't want to miss this bit."

"I know her, too," Sheila said trying to keep her voice steady. "And she is good, isn't she? There's no one else on the stage who can touch her. Frances is in a class by herse ."

Dick eyed Sheila almost tenderly. "That's generous," he said, "from another dancer. Darned generous. But of course"—hastily—"you aren't the same kind of dancers. You are about the best I've seen in your line, you know."

Sheila laughed a little dubiously. "That's generous too. Thank you. But I can't compare with Frances. That routine would slay me in a week. It just can't be done by anyone else."

She had always admired Frances Barton and even in this moment hoped that she had not minimized the effect the other girl's talent always had on her.

It was cheap—this jealousy—even though no one knew of it but herself. Why should she be jealous of the interest of a young man she had known less than 14 hours? Was it really only 14 hours ago that she had first seen Dick Stanley?

* * *

ALL day long she had thought of him, not as "that agreeable Mr. Stanley" or as "Mr. Stanley" at all, but as Dick. Trevor Lane had thus addressed him and Sheila had thought at the time that it was an appropriate name.

She was standing close beside him now. Tall, charming, with that delightful smile crinkling his nose, Dick was just a name. How well did Frances know Dick?

A CLAMOR of applause went up as the girl began one of the most intricate parts of the dance. She was delightfully graceful. Frances swayed like a lily on its stem, bent almost unbelievably and yet attractively too. She turned amazing somersaults, righting her slender body with agile grace. Presently, amidst clapping of hands, she finished the dance, bowing graciously, bounding toward the audience on tiptoe and back again. Frances blew a kiss, light as thistledown, pranced on her toes and fluttered out of sight.

It was indeed a pretty picture. One moment she was there, posing, smiling. Then she was gone.

Instantly everyone was talking. Groups broke up and others reassembled. Kato appeared bearing a heavily laden tray. Trevor Lane separated himself from a girl who was hanging on his arm, urged her gently into a seat beside an all-too-willing and engaging youth, and hastened toward Sheila and Dick.

"Dick promised me that he would try to make you change your mind," he explained to the girl, with a smile. "So I took the liberty of assuming that you would do us the honor to sing." He looked across the room as he spoke and nodded. "Joe Paris told me that you sing certain types of songs exceptionally well."

SHEILA'S heart leaped again at the mention of Joe Paris' name. How did he know that she sang? That Joe Paris should remember her, know anything at all about her work meant so much.

"I asked Mr Davis to come along," Trevor added, "to accompany you. I thought you would feel more at home."

"Blind Timmy!" The words slipped out and Sheila flushed suddenly. "Please don't misunderstand," she said. "It may sound cruel to call him that but it's his name—almost a stock in trade. No one ever calls him anything else. I'd hardly remembered that his name is Davis."

"Yes, Blind Timmy. He seemed to be pleased that you were to sing. And he said that you had run through the songs with him a day or so ago."

That was true. Only the other evening at Ma Lowell's Sheila and Timmy had had an hour of music in Ma's blatant old parlor with its paper flowers, dusty and faded, its gilt framed pictures of ageless ancestors and Ma's other treasures. How different from the room in which they now stood! And how different Timmy looked in his tuxedo! "A fine, upstanding figure of a man," as Ma would always say, with a sigh for Timmy's sightless eyes.

"That's fine. Yes, of course I'll sing. Maybe one or two of Timmy's own songs."

"Great. Perhaps you'll want to primp a bit—you look most charming but nearly everyone does before facing the battery."

He directed a servant to show Miss Shayne the dressing room from which she could emerge near the piano and save an embarrassing walk through the glittering rooms.

Smiling Sheila turned from Dick. To be sure this was what she had come for. She was an entertainer. It was true that Dick had called for her at the theater but very likely he was as glad now of the opportunity to escape her. If after she sang he did not join her—

But Dick was still at her side when she reached the dressing room door. "You aren't nervous?" he asked.

"Nervous?" Sheila's low laughter rang out. She was exultant again. "Oh, but you forget that I was practically born on the stage. I'm more nervous talking to you than singing to a crowd."

"Then you're in for a lot of nervousness tonight." Dick laughed. "I'm going to talk to you a lot. That's a threat!"

Two girls on a nearby divan spied Dick then and hailed him. Bowing to Sheila, he was gone.

That great series of athletic contests engaging Dixon and Sterling high schools sees its 1933 renewal when the former is a visitor this Friday evening in the Sterling Coliseum. The basketball doubleheader is scheduled to get under way at 7 o'clock. Sterling is now tied for the N. C. I. C. lead with Belvidere, while Dixon, resting in a deadlock with DeKalb for second position will attempt to hand the hosts their first conference upset. Sterling's second team is also on top, in company with DeKalb.

At Belvidere last week-end Dixon, although playing a good game dropped the decision 28-21. A heavy scoring second quarter, in which nine points were added, did the trick. Dixon was on even terms until then, but for some unaccountable reason there was a serious let-down and Belvidere scored almost at will. This defeat was the first of the campaign. Polo and Mendota were previous opponents and went out on scores of 24-13 and 27-21 respectively.

Repeating previous statements it is now an established fact that Coach L. E Sharpe has something in the line of basketball men to satisfy the hopes and cheers of local fans. In Belvidere the Dixon crew had the regular six-men performing. Henry, Flanagan, Underwood, Bellows, Strong and Hasselberg. The trio of forwards all saw plenty of action. Henry, in his second year of major competition, cracked the hoop for nine points. This and the inspired play shown at times, kept Dixon in the running, something a home team hasn't been able to do in past Belvidere meetings. Flanagan, whose form this season is surprising, has the better accuracy from beneath the ring. Shooting from the corner Underwood, sophomore midget, caged a beauty in the early stages of the Boone count fray. Jumping against Kicster, supposedly the class of the league's tip-off men, Strong easily controlled the jump. His uncanny ability to keep possession of the ball, once in his hands, is one of Strong's main features. A player who thus far has not been up to his usual standard is Bellows. Last season he was a mainspring but his play has slowed considerably. In practice this week he has displayed improvement which may be taken as a good omen for the Sterling game. Hasselberg, veteran of the 1931-32 season, is not the flashy type of player but can and does turn in excellent games at guard. Potts, Fordham, Cook and Beech make up the reserve material.

In running into Sterling high school, Sharpe's boys clash with a Northern Illinois leader. If experience thus far in the campaign, means the difference between winner and loser, then Dixon is a set-up. Sterling has played nine games, five regularly scheduled and four in the DeKalb holiday tournament. Defeats were handed to Morrison, 25-22, Sterling Community, 29-5; Mendota, 21-15; and Rochelle, 27-17. Rock Falls trimmed them 16-15. At the DeKalb tourney Sterling triumphed over East Moline, 23-13; Rock Falls, 18-13; lost to Waterman, 34-25, and grabbed third place with a 25-22 win over DeKalb.

At the forward post, Hendricks stands out as the star. He teams Andrews or Powell for the front line. Gebhardt has the upper hand on the center post, with Moore as the replacement. A pair of veteran guards in Terhune and Praetz do the heavy protection work with both capable of offensive antics.

Not since 1929 has Dixon uncorked a victory over Sterling. The fray of Friday would be an opportune time for the hoped-for and long-awaited win over Sterling. Also local prep sport enthusiasts need little prompting when the recent Thanksgiving Day grid game is mentioned. Revenge on the court would be sweet music for Dixon followers.

A great crowd is expected, the traditional Dixon-Sterling rivalry being one of the best gate attractions in this section.

The second-string game should be well worth watching. Dixon has taken two of its three games. The wins were over Polo 19-13 and Belvidere, 11-7. Mendota defeated them 19-16. Sterling's undefeated reserve record reads: wins over Morrison, 26-10; Rock Falls, 14-10; Community 42-13; Rochelle, 29-10 and Mendota, 25-20. The starting lineup of Flanagan and Grove, forwards, Cinnamon center, and Nicalosi and Krug guards, worked the whole way against Belvidere, for their initial conference victory.

Grade School Games

At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the northside gym, Coach Roundy's grade school all-star cagers, perform in a double header with a like crew from Sterling. It will be the second meeting of the teams, the first games having been played before Christmas in Sterling. Dixon heavies then triumphed 20-12; the lights lost 14-8.

Paul About Ready For Friday's Bout

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—Tommy Paul of Buffalo, N. Y., today was just about ready for the defense of his National Boxing Association featherweight title at the Chicago Stadium Friday night, but his challenger, Freddie Miller of Cincinnati, still had some weight-losing to do.

After his last serious workout yesterday Paul weighed 125 pounds and decided to do only light work today and tomorrow. The Cincinnati southpaw, however, scaled 127-½ after a hard drill, and faced another stiff session today in order to get down to the division limit of 126 pounds.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

This operative, named shirtless secretary of the committee to discover what the dickens happened to that swell Pittsburgh football team, has found the answer. It was all Knute Rockne's fault.

You may remember the one that Rock pulled on the boys in 1930. When the team stopped off at Tucson to limber up, Rock put Dan Hanley's sweater on Fullback Bucky O'Connor. Seeing the number, the scribes were fooled into believing that Hanley was going to play against the Trojans.

It worked just dandy. The Trojans were surprised when Bucky O'Connor took the field, and while they were recovering from their amazement, Bucky was hippety-hopping down the field for a winning touchdown.

REPEAT IN '32—

This hoax of Rock's seems to have developed into a tradition. The Notre Dame team of 1932 improved upon it, however. Phony numbers were put on all the players, much to the discomfiture of the photographers and scribes.

Nobody knew anybody. Backfield Coach Schwartz couldn't even distinguish, upon being questioned by the shutter-guys, between All-America tackle Joe Kurth and the other tackle, Ed Krause. The unfortunate gentlemen of the lens were handed such monickers as Jones, Hemingway, Throckmorton, and Zilch.

It was all screamingly funny, of course. Maybe it was even too funny. The lads may have been still laughing about it when they started against the Trojans, and while the buttons were popping off the Polish-Irish-Lithuanian vests, the California boys were busy tallying.

PITT ADDS NEW TOUCH—

The Panthers, upon arriving in Tucson, were asked to line up in team formation for a picture, that was to be used all up and down the Pacific coast this they did, but how!

Nearly every player was wearing a wrong number. And all except Left End Dailey took the wrong positions in the lineup. Quarterback Bob Hogan was over the ball at center, a jovial grin on his Irish pan. He looked just too cute. Perhaps he was feeling cute, too, and that's why he called for a forward pass into the end zone on first down as soon as Pitt reached the Troy 26-yard line.

At right end was Warren (All-America) Heller, who did not look so very All-American in the Rose Bowl, Jan. 2. Mike Sebastian, whose snaky run against Notre Dame, produced the first touchdown against the Irish last season, was at left guard. Next to him in the line was Joe Skladany, the only player Pitt put into the Rose Bowl who looked the part of the All-America choice that he was.

STILL LAUGHING—

Linemen identified in the backfield were Guard Tarcisio Onder, at right half, and Center Joe A. Tormey at left half. The other two probably could be identified by research on a Pitt program, but they might as well have been left at home for all the good they did in the Rose Bowl, so why bother?

When that first forward pass went whistling past Mike Sebastian for a Trojan touchdown, probably young Mike was laughing to himself and wondering if the Pitt prank at Tucson would be chronicled in the next revised edition of Joe Miller's Joke Book.

Before the rest of the boys were able to control their laughter long enough to remember their correct positions, the ball was in the bag for El Trojan.

It was all very uproarious. It almost cost a couple of cameramen their jobs, but it was funny just the same. Everybody was completely taken in!

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—MacDonald Smith's score of 281 won the $2,000 Los Angeles Open. Bill A Terry, New York Giant's first baseman, refused a salary cut of $9,000, it was reported, and returned his unsigned contract.

Five Years Ago Today — E. C. Barnard opened an American League service bureau to hand out information on players of the league. Henry P. Edwards, former sports writer, was selected as head of the bureau.

Ten Years Ago Today — Jack Dempsey was sent an offer of $350,000 to meet Joe Beckett, English heavyweight in England on June 4. George McDonald, English promoter, opened the negotiations. The Detroit Tigers signed Arnold Crandall a semi-pro southpaw pitcher from Los Angeles.

Report Sharkey Will Fight Again

New York, Jan. 11 —(AP —Jack Sharkey will defend his heavyweight championship in June against either Ernie Schaaf or Primo Carnera, under plans formulated by Madison Square Garden.

Schaaf, who stopped Stanley Poreda in six rounds last week, has been matched with Carnera in a 15-round battle in the Grden on February 10, the winner to gain the right to face Sharkey for the title.

Schaaf's contract now is owned jointly by Sharkey and Johnny Buckley, but it was understood it would not be renewed when it expires in March. Charley Johnston, brother of Jimmy Johnston, Garden matchmaker, may take over Schaaf's affairs at that time.

Carlton Team Has Won 34 Straight

Northfield, Minn., Jan. 11—(AP) —Undefeated in 34 straight midwest conference basketball games, Carleton College starts its campaign for a sixth consecutive cage championship against Monmouth College here Friday night.

Only once during the past five years has a midwest league team defeated a Maize and Blue quint, and that was in 1928 when Coe eked out a 27-25 triumph. Carleton also has not lost a home game since the last game of the 1925-26 season.

A BOOK A DAY

When Spike Tracy's car ran out of gas on a lonely road in Vermont, and he sought shelter for the night at the nearest farmhouse, he could hardly have guessed what he was letting himself in for.

Before morning the head of the household had been murdered, suspicion seemed to point equally to the two attractive daughters and Spike had been sworn in as a special deputy sheriff to help look into matters; and before he got through he found himself investigating one of the oddest murder cases anyone could imagine.

All of this comes from "The Murder of Siurd Sharon," by H. Ashbrook, a competently and ingeniously devised mystery that ought to delight all detective story fans.

The convention that a review must not give away the plot of a murder story makes it impossible for me to say much about this except to remark that it utilizes what is, as far as I know, an entirely new device in detective story fiction — and just try and figure it out before you finish it. The book is well above the average of its type, and I think you'll like it greatly.

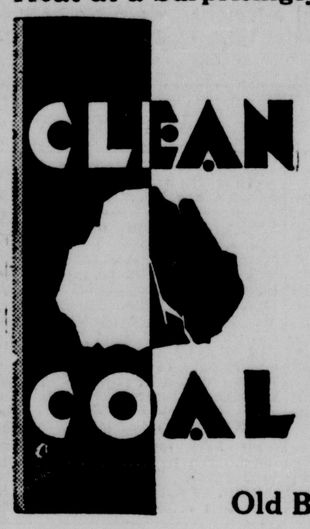

Another new one is, "In Time for Murder," by R. A. J. Walling. This is a confused and complicated tale of an attempted payroll stick-up in England, followed by a murder in a country house. It's suitably puzzling, and the murder is cleverly devised— but somehow it never gets exciting. It is, in short, just another detective story neither better nor worse than the average.
